

Rescindment of Consent to Disclose Education Records

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) is a federal law that protects the privacy of students' education records. In accordance with FERPA, students have various rights, including the right to exercise limited control over the disclosure of information from their education records.

By completing this form and signing below, you are rescinding previously granted consent for the University of Pittsburgh to disclose information from your education records to individuals listed below. Further information will not be shared until additional consent is granted.

Name of student: _____
Student ID: _____

I rescind the previously granted consent to the disclosure of information from my education records to the following person(s):

I understand I may provide new consent by completing the Consent to Disclosure form and submitting it to the Office of the University Registrar.

Signature: _____
Date: _____

For more information regarding a student's rights under FERPA, please refer to the University's FERPA Policy and Procedure AC 04 or the University's FERPA Annual Notification to students.